SILVER OXIDE BUTTON BATTERIES

Silver oxide button batteries are made of zinc and silver oxide to provide a button battery that brings a higher voltage charge. This higher voltage charge provides a higher energy yield to run the small multi-function calculators and watches we see in the market today. In addition to the energy yield, silver oxide batteries have an increased shelf life over other batteries. Duracell batteries provide long, stable power, anti-leakage construction, consistent quality and a wider operating range. Due to fluctuations in the price of silver, the silver oxide battery prices are subject to changes. Button batteries are carded and prices reflect the price per card.

La Cave™...The ideal wine cellar

The great wine caves of France are famed for encouraging the perfect development of wine by creating a special environment.

La Cave™ self contained wine cellars were conceived and designed in France to meet the demands of the most particular wine lovers the world over.

La Cave™ creates the finest possible conditions for the graceful aging and serving of your wines by providing:

- the ideal temperature, between 52 — 56°F. Any lower, and development slows down. Above 60°, however, development quickens, and wine ages prematurely. This means that keeping wine in the home destroys its potential for improvement, and even harms it. Most basements are neither deep nor well insulated enough to double as a wine cellar, and worse, some house furnaces or central heating pipes.
- the desirable humidity level. Lack of humidity causes the cork to dry out, which in turn results in the evaporation of the wine. Excess humidity would encourage the growth of fungus.
- shielding from light. Darkness is essential to proper aging.
- odor absorption. Because wine "breathes" through the cork, any odor — fuel, gasoline, paint, food — is to be avoided. La Cave™ eliminates all odors.
- protection against vibrations, which should be kept to an absolute minimum, since wines that are shaken throw off their sediment too soon.
- aeration.

Just as your own palate will guide you to a wine's moment of perfection, so will your own good sense guide you to La Cave™. It's the best way to store and age wine, even better than digging your own wine cellar.

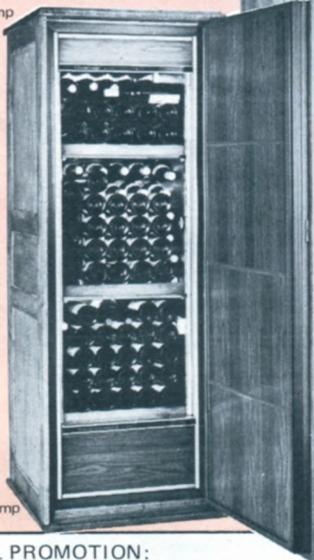

"And the wine is bottled poetry" —Robert Louis Stevenson
